The man who subsists upon roasting ears and salt is certainly living within his income.

In addition to the store box politician Great Bend has what is known as a "nibbler," the man who loafs around grocery stores and samples everything and never spends a cent.

Delicious ice cream, homemade cakes, pleasant resting place and cordial treatment at Mrs. Townsend's, first door west of Dr. Hiss' office, on Forest avenue. Cream for parties, etc.

Prof. A. S. Hull of the Central Normal college and Miss June Madison were married yesterday at the home of the bride, Hartland, Kan. Rev. Leon C. Schnacke of this city tied the knot.

Candidat C. Fischer was ordained a minister at the German Evangelical church near Hudson last Sunday by Rev. Kottich. A great many people were present from Great Bend and Ellinwood.

Four farm hands were sleeping in a row on the floor of a farm house near Ellsworth on the night of July 25th. Lightning struck the house, killing the married men and skipping the single ones. Another illustration that marriage is a failure.

The matrimonial drouth has been broken at last. Since our last issue licenses to wed have been issued to Charles Little and Ella Lake of Claffin, and J. C. Isen and Miss Thurov of Ellinwood. Judge McCorkle has begun to smile once more.

Elsewhere will be found the announcement of George Valarius of Homestead as a candidate for sheriff. Mr. Valarius has been a resident of the north part of the county for seventeen years, and has always been a staunch democrat. We are confident that should Mr. Valarius receive the nomination he would be elected, as Homestead would be for him to a unit and he would carry an immense vote all over the county.

The law allowing the county commissioners to hear and decide a case on appeal from the decision of the county superintendent ought to be repealed. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred the county superintendent is never right than the commissioners. It is the superintendent's business to attend to the foundation and division of school districts. He is acquainted with the facts from personal investigation, a thing the commissioners cannot do.

Avery Avis, the "egg man," was in the city Monday, unloading hen fruit and butter and loading up with general merchandise for another excursion to the rural districts. Avery has been in this business over the same territory for about eight years, and has got to be quite well off in this world's goods. He takes out groceries, dry goods, etc., in small parcels and trades them to the thrifty housewives of northwest Barton and eastern Rush for butter and eggs. He gets about 700 dozen eggs and about 300 pounds of butter per month.

A merry party of young people went down to Horseshoe Bend Tuesday evening and had a jolly time; enjoying refreshments under the trees and angling for the elusive finny tribe. The party comprised the Misses Florence and Francis Poole, Mary and Dorothy Gaizer, Ola and Lillian Brinkman, Gertrude Ashton, Carolyn Lightbody, Floy Gillmore and Rhoda Allen and Mrs. J. George Brinkman and Messrs Charles and George Brinkman, Edgar Corbett, G. L. Chapman, Charley Zutavern, Orson Kackley, Henry Born and James Townsley.

C. Samuels is this week having a 24x75 foot addition constructed in the rear of the New York store, which gives 1,800 square feet of additional floor space and filling the two lots from Main street to the alley. We rejoice in this evidence of prosperity in the face of the general business depression of the past two years, and can only attribute it to a liberal and judicious use of printers ink—telling the people of their goods and then carrying out their promises to the letter. Mr. Samuels spends more money for advertising than any ten of our merchants and the result is manifest.

DIED—At her home three miles east of Great Bend, on Monday, August 5, 1895, of cancer, Samantha Ann Pyle, wife of A. L. Pyle, aged 48 years, 5 months and 7 days. She was born in Livingston county, Illinois, and was married to the husband who survives her February 23, 1865. In 1881 she united with the Christian church and has always been a consistent Christian woman. The family came to Barton county in 1892, and since that time have made a multitude of friends who now sympathize sincerely with them in their great sorrow. She had been an invalid for fourteen years and while the family had for some times realized that the end was near, the final blow was a hard one. When death invades a home and calls away the mother, whose presence was like the light and the flowers every heart in the community weeps with the stricken ones and a large sympathy goes with these tears from those who have been called to bear a similar burden. The funeral services were held at the Congregational church yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Davis.

Andrew Franklin, father of Mrs. J. W. Eubanks of this county, died last week at Burlington, Kan., at the advanced age of 104 years. He had lived to see the world in more phases than in all probability any of us ever will. He was born in Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, December 25, 1791. His mother was a recent emigrant from France, where a few months previous she had engaged in a love affair with a gallant young French officer, which culminated in the birth of Mr. Franklin. The officer was no other than the renowned Lannes, field marshal of Napoleon Bonaparte. Mr. Franklin fought in the Indian wars early in the present century, and in the war of 1812 was with General Scott at Lundy Lane, where he was severely wounded. He was personally acquainted with William Henry Harrison, Anthony Wayne and other noted men of the day. He served in the Mexican war, until the capture of the city of Mexico and at the close of that war located at Keokuk, Iowa, where he was elected to the legislature. He served four years in the late war and then located at Burlington, Kan., where he has since lived. His first vote was cast for James Madison, and he never voted anything but the democratic ticket, which accounts for his longevity. He was the father of ten children, Mrs. Eubank being the youngest child of his second wife. He received a pension of $50 per month.
